

ZELLA DAY

Hype Machine

Number 1 Most Popular - "Sweet Ophelia (Marian Hill Remix)"

Top 10 Most Popular - "1965" and "Sweet Ophelia"

The FADER "her voice seems to be the real catch"

My Old Kentucky Blog "'Sweet Ophelia' from Zella Day just might have the best pop songs we have heard so far this year....the chorus is one of the most powerful."

The Wild Honey Pie "viciously vibrant voice, bright imagery and 'cherry pie with your gold curls' results in a beautifully balanced pop track"

All Things Go "the kind of music Lewis & Clark would listen to on their journey across America"

Pigeons and Planes "Day manages to take her folky, western influences and merge them with a current indie pop sound, creating a production that feels both modern and organic"

Breaking More Waves "a swoon worthy epic with wild west twangs and touches of Lana Del Rey all over the shop. It's crushingly beautiful pop."

Kick Kick Snare "a raw & organic sound unconfined by the boundaries of genre that creates a intoxicating mixture of unbridled energy and tender strength."

Noise Porn "Her raw lyrics and strong, ever-so-slightly raspy voice make her that of a modern-day Stevie Nicks. The ringing electronics, reverberating drums and fluttering guitars give "Sweet Ophelia" an edgy pop vibe—one that you will be singing to yourself for days to come."

CMU "her new track 'Sweet Ophelia' signals a sea change in her style and image, from cherry pie prairie girl to LA-schooled popstar with something more to say."

Unrecorded "'Sweet Ophelia' is a massive pop jam with rockin' drums and gorgeous vocals that puts the LA-via-Arizona singer in the forefront of the new pop movement"

NOISEY "perfect video for springtime, Zella Day's "Sweet Ophelia," one of the most charming pop songs we've heard this year"
