We've known for some time now that Sabrina Carpenter was in the process of working on more music. The 17-year-old singer and Disney star teased earlier this summer that she was creating some new songs, and might even be working on a mysterious duet.

While we're still waiting to see who her unnamed musical partner will be, we can at least rock out to her latest single. Sabrina surprised her fans with a Twitter announcement about her new song last week, and it's now finally available for both streaming and purchase.

The song is both romantic and energizing – you'll definitely want to be listening to it with the windows down while singing along. Here are some of the best lyrics:

“My dreams running into your dreams / It's as if we wished on the same star / And my time changing all of your time / It's a butterfly effect on my heart”
