

Entertainment EXCLUSIVE

Exclusive: Get all the feels (and a 'hot piece of man ass') in The Thing About Harry promo

Freeform's gay rom-com stars Grey's Anatomy's Jake Borelli, Niko Terho, and Queer Eye's Karamo Brown.

We're just wild about Harry.

In this exclusive new promo for Freeform's gay rom-com The Thing About Harry, we can't get enough of the sultry looks and coy one-liners between Sam (Grey's Anatomy's Jake Borelli) and Harry (Niko Terho).

The pair are former high school foes who end up sharing a car on a road trip home to Missouri for a friend's Valentine's Day engagement party. But, as they'll discover, those old feelings of animosity might have been obscuring something much deeper and more beautiful.

In this first full-length promo for the Valentine's Day rom-com, we see the two exchange secret, knowing yearning glances to the perfect soundtrack of indie pop-star Morgxn's cover of Judy Garland's "I'm Just Wild About Harry."

Across various parties, they talk with friends about all the reasons they, of course, are not right for each other (rom-com code for: absolutely perfect for each other). Sam bemoans his lack of dating prowess in Chicago, while staunchly denying any suggestion he date Harry. But as his friend Stasia (Britt Baron) reminds him, he should really "get back out there and throw [himself] at that hot piece of man ass."

Queer Eye's Karamo Brown and The Fosters' Peter Paige (who also co-wrote and directed the film) also star.

The Thing About Harry premieres on Freeform at 8 p.m. on Feb. 15 (just in time for Valentine's Day weekend). Watch the clip above for more.